

Green Jobs in Northwest PA

Revitalizing our economy with green jobs to build economic, energy and climate security

As the nation continues to debate our economic and energy future, a new report shows that the U.S. can create two million jobs by investing in a rapid green economic recovery program. This program would strengthen the economy, increase energy independence, and fight global warming. How can this transition to a low-carbon economy benefit Erie?

Come hear from leaders in Northwest PA who are already working to green their businesses, academic programs and communities.
